

What is Claimed is:

1. Methods for dating inks wherein additives are introduced to inks at production.
2. Qualitative and/or quantities systems to analyze ink samples for additives thus dating, showing source of production and estimates of time of use.
3. A method of varying additives over short periods to approximate date of use.